

CALL FOR PAPERS – THE JOURNAL OF CULTURE

The Journal of Culture, peer-reviewed journal published by the Institute of Ethnology of the Faculty of Philosophy, Charles University, Prague, is receiving contributions to the 1/2020 monothematic issue:

QUO VADIS, AFRICA?

This monothematic issue of The Journal of Culture is devoted to the investigation of diverse forms of the past and present of Africa. The issue will be published on the occasion of the 60th anniversary of African studies at the Faculty of Philosophy, Charles University, Prague, which existed as independent disciplinary unit until 2006. Another reason behind this monothematic issue is the establishment of the Centre of African Studies at the Faculty of Arts, Charles University in 2019 whose current objective is to coordinate and promote lectures and research on African history, culture and current problems.

The preferred formats of the issue are original expert and critical articles, theoretical treatises and translations of key texts relating to the issue of the African continent.

The contributions may discuss some of the following spheres:

1. African studies in the Czech/Slovak environment in the 20th and 21st century.
2. Traditions and transformation in Africa.
3. Security situation in the Sahara Desert.
4. Post-colonial development of African countries.
5. Czech travellers in Africa.
6. African art.

Papers are not limited to the above stated topics. Their subjects can be consulted with the editor-in-chief.

The deadline for sending final versions of the studies: 30 June 2020 by email to the editor in chief Barbora Půtová: barbora.putova@ff.cuni.cz

Editors: Barbora Půtová, Jan Záhořík

Languages: Czech, Slovak, English, German, French
